

MAIA Blended Growth

A multi-asset portfolio with the aim to achieve capital appreciation within a moderate to high risk profile. The portfolio is constructed using a range of active and index tracking funds.

The portfolio is suitable for investors with a moderate to high tolerance for risk, that would accept a higher level of variation or movement to capital value to achieve their long-term objectives. It is aimed at investors who require an actively managed and diversified portfolio and who have an investment horizon of at least 5 years.

The portfolio is designed to embrace a range of complementary assets including traditional bond funds, equity funds and alternative assets. Whilst a broad range of asset classes can be used, typically most of the underlying portfolio will be invested in equities, diversified across global markets. The funds are blended to provide a broad exposure to global markets as well as areas chosen for their potential for outperformance to enhance returns.

Our fund selection process combines a qualitative and quantitative review of funds. Analysis of returns, risk, style, market cap and investment process are undertaken on all funds. This enables us to blend funds to reflect our views on markets, whilst ensuring that the funds selected do not duplicate or contradict each other. The complementary investment styles chosen for this mandate will be incorporated within MAIA’s dynamic strategic asset allocation.

Market Commentary

2025 has already been a year of shifting narratives and renewed volatility. The first half of the year has been dominated by the re-emergence of trade friction, most notably through the promise of new tariffs across major economies. Despite this backdrop, MAIA portfolios have delivered positive performance across all risk levels. This outcome reflects our active approach, with allocations across differing asset classes, regions, and investment styles that have benefited from both market trends and relative value opportunities.

Value style equities have seen a resurgence due to favourable market conditions. Their characteristics of quality earnings, lower valuations and links to a more de-globalised economy have benefitted our portfolios.

There has also been a resurgence in returns away from just large and mega cap equities globally, as investors re-evaluate the impact of trade, interest rates and inflation on smaller, more domestic type businesses. These stocks have seen positive returns due to the economic backdrop, again something that has benefitted our equity allocation due to our asset allocation which invests across the market cap spectrum.

Fixed income markets have been volatile, but not always predictable. Our barbell approach to fixed income – with a mix of short-dated corporate credit, including high yield, and longer-duration government debt – has helped manage this volatility. Shorter maturities have provided income and resilience, while longer-dated bonds continually stand to benefit from any interest rate cuts made by central banks.

As the second half of the year unfolds, we expect new opportunities to arise – whether from tariff related repositioning, interest rate changes, slowing global growth, or the long-term effects of deglobalisation and political instability. We're ready to respond.
